Telecom Review Leaders' Summit is back!

Telecom Review Leaders' Summit is back in Dubai in its 13th edition. The 'It's All about Smart Networking' event will focus on the industry's main trends such as 5G, cybersecurity, data traffic and digitalization.

Expected +600 attendees

The 2018 Telecom Review Leaders' Summit is targeting +600 attendees from all corners of the globe in the converging telecoms and IT industries. The event will gather telecom equipment vendors, telecom operators, industry regulators, government officials, content providers, cybersecurity experts, consultants and smart city innovators. Internet of things (IoT) will be a leading topic of discussion at the conference, along with discussions on 5G and the challenges facing regulation, as well as smart city presentations, talks on cybersecurity and data management.

Great networking opportunity

In addition to in-depth panel discussions, attendees will enjoy the networking opportunities provided at the summit. Exhibitors in the demo area will also showcase their innovative solutions and meet with industry leaders and experts from around the globe.

Testimonials

Hatem Dowidar, CEO, Etisalat International

I think Telecom Review is the standard for telecom journalism in the region. Many leaders from the ICT ecosystem and I attend the Telecom Review Leaders' Summit every year, because it provides us with the opportunity to engage in robust debates in a shared effort to improve the industry overall.

Marc Halbfinger, CEO, PCCW Global

I enjoy coming and getting a view of what's happening in the region. The content in substance of what the Telecom Review team delivers is just spot on and I just enjoy listening and taking part.

Eric Handa, CEO, APTecom

The quality of the people at this summit is just fantastic. C-Level executives from the ICT industry globally attend every year, and the quality of the Telecom Review team are they key differentiating factors for me when compared to other events.

Mounir Ladki, President and CTO, MYCOM OSI

I think the Telecom Review team has now acquired world-class expertise in organizing these brilliant ICT events. The conference is second to none in this region, where you have by far the largest gathering of C-Level executives and influencers from across the entire telecommunications industry. One other key aspect of the event is the networking opportunity provided.

Chris de Josselin, CEO, StrataNet

Our main business is focused in Asia and the US and it is very important for me to have a broader view of what is happening in the Middle East market. This event has given me the opportunity to meet potential customers and partners. I have heard a lot about the industry and what is happening in the region.

Hazem Galal, Partner, PwC

I attend conferences all over the world and what I find unique about this specific event is that it's a good combination of both a regional focus and a global outlook. It also combines the perspective from the ICT industry looking at smart cities in a more holistic matter.

Dr. Mohamed Madkour, VP Global Wireless Networks Marketing and Solutions, Huawei

At Huawei, we believe in the power of innovation and collaboration as a fundamental way to get ready for the 5G era. This summit summarizes these two aspects in terms of the innovation and collaboration. This is the kind of value we're looking at to enrich the 5G era, not just for Huawei but for all the operators in the Middle East.

Matteo Maga, Managing Director, Accenture

Accenture attends this event every year in an effort to measure the pace of innovation in the ICT sector in the region. The event also attracts ideas and expertise from global technology leaders. This year, as per-norm, the panel discussions and keynote presentations have been of a high-quality.

Dr. Ibrahim Gedeon, CTO, TELUS

They tend to focus on the C-suite. This event is not only unique to the ICT summits but to all the summits I attend. I like that fact that it's contained, a lot of time is given for networking and the topics are very relevant.

Jihad Tayara, VP ICT Business Development, EITC

We are very happy and proud to participate in this event as the Smart ICT partner. It's one of the best networking events that take place in the UAE and the region. The most impressive thing about it is that it is transforming from a traditional telco event to an ICT and smart city event.
